

East Kildonan Collegiate Holds Graduation Exercises

Graduation exercises for East Kildonan Collegiate students were held in King Memorial Church Friday afternoon. Principal J. E. Scarrow, chairman, was assisted on the platform by Rev. F. J. Ison, Rev. P. V. Samson and Rev. H. G. Tolton. Rev. J. Irwin McKinney, rector of Holy Trinity Church, was the principal speaker.

The graduates, said Mr. McKinney, were like newly elected treasurers standing before a vault which held all the treasures of their organization. To open the door barring them from the treasures of life they must have the correct combination.

As the vault had a combination consisting of four numbers, so life had a way of opening its door and surrendering its treasures to people whose life had in it: Sacrifice, comradeship, destiny, God.

R. D. Nicholson brought greetings from the School Board.

Inspector H. E. Riter presented the Governor-General's medal for general proficiency to Hugh Krentz who also received a bursary award from the Silver Wings Chapter, I.O.D.E. Mrs. P. Hibbert, educational secretary of the Chapter, made the latter presentation.

The valedictory address was given by Eleanor Harris.

Musical items were rendered by Margaret Laidlaw Hood, a former student, and by the grade X section of the Glee Club. Helen F. Young presided at the organ.

The graduation banquet held in the evening at the Marlborough Hotel was attended by a large number of parents and friends.

Lily Paslawski entertained the company with a history of the class, and Walter Melnyk prophesied great achievements for their future.

Eleanor Harris, valedictorian of the year, was presented with a subscription to "Readers Digest."

Dancing to the music of Eddie Walker's orchestra completed the evening.
